I recently learned that I have been listed on the masthead of the Dartmouth Review as a member of its “Advisory Board.” As I understand it, this is an honorific designation. I have not participated in the operation of the Dartmouth Review since I left the board of the Hanover Review Inc. in 2005.

b. The American Bar Association’s Commentary to its Code of Judicial Conduct states that it is inappropriate for a judge to hold membership in any organization that invidiously discriminates on the basis of race, sex, or religion, or national origin. Indicate whether any of these organizations listed in response to 11a above currently discriminate or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies. If so, describe any action you have taken to change these policies and practices.

To the best of my knowledge, no organization listed above currently discriminates or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion, or national origin, either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies.

The New York Sun

From 2004 to 2005, I served as an editorial writer for the New York Sun. Among my responsibilities was the writing of the initial draft of unsigned staff editorials that generally appeared on a daily basis. Signed pieces I wrote for the New York Sun are included above. The process for preparing such editorials was collaborative and the published versions of editorials often differed substantially from initial drafts I submitted. For the preparation of this Questionnaire I reviewed every editorial published during my tenure. Although potentially over inclusive, out of an abundance of caution I have provided below a list of those editorials, based on my recollection, for which I may have prepared the initial draft or participated substantially in editing.

iv. whether you served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings and, if so, a description of the 10 most significant matters with which you were involved in that capacity.

I have not served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings.

b. Describe:

i. the general character of your law practice and indicate by date when its character has changed over the years.

My legal experience has included commercial and appellate litigation, academic scholarship, teaching, and government service.

I practiced in the litigation group at the New York office of Kirkland & Ellis LLP from 2011 to 2017. During that time, my practice consisted mainly of “issues and appeals” work, meaning the crafting of appellate arguments and briefs in federal and state appellate court proceedings as well as identifying legal issues in trial court proceedings and crafting dispositive motions such as motions to dismiss. The general character of my practice did not change but I acquired increasing responsibility over time.

I have also engaged in academic work during my career. From 2009 to 2010, I was an Olin-Searle fellow at Georgetown University Law Center. From 2013 to 2016, I was a research fellow at New York University School of Law. From 2016 to 2017, I was an assistant professor of law at Scalia Law School at George Mason University, before going on leave to enter government service. As an academic, I published articles on constitutional law, administrative law, statutory interpretation, and other topics in journals such as the Fordham Law Review, Notre Dame Law Review, and University of Pennsylvania Journal of Constitutional Law. As a professor, I taught courses on administrative law and civil procedure.

In 2017, I joined the U.S. Department of Education as deputy general counsel and acting general counsel. In that capacity, I was responsible for providing legal advice related to all aspects of the Department’s operations, including litigation, rulemaking, regulation, and enforcement. I supervised 110 lawyers in seven divisions in the Office of the General Counsel.

In 2018, I joined the White House Counsel’s Office as special assistant and associate counsel to the President. In that capacity, I am responsible for providing legal advice to senior staff in the Executive Office of the President and for managing legal issues involving executive branch agencies and components of the Executive Office of the President.

ii. your typical clients and the areas at each period of your legal career, if any, in which you have specialized.

In private practice, I addressed a range of legal issues and clients. I worked on cases involving administrative law, constitutional law, antitrust, securities regulation, and products liability. Some significant clients included Abbott Laboratories, BP America, Chipotle Mexican Grill Inc., IBM Corporation, Johnson & Johnson, Teva Pharmaceuticals North America, and UBS Warburg.

As an academic, I specialized in administrative law, constitutional law, and civil procedure.

At the Education Department, my client was the Department and I specialized in administrative law and education law, including application of the Administrative Procedure Act, the Higher Education Act, and the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

At the White House Counsel's Office, my principal client is the President of the United States, and I have worked on a range of issues and legal authorities.

c. Describe the percentage of your practice that has been in litigation and whether you appeared in court frequently, occasionally, or not at all. If the frequency of your appearances in court varied, describe such variance, providing dates.

My time in private practice focused mainly on the "issues and appeals" aspects of litigation. I authored and submitted briefs and dispositive motions and prepared for arguments, appearing in court occasionally. In government, I was also involved in litigation strategy, reviewed briefs prepared by the Justice Department, and participated in moot courts. As an agency general counsel and a White House lawyer, ongoing litigation matters occupied perhaps a third of my time, and litigation concerns are also relevant to legal advice on other matters.

i. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | | |
|----|--------------------------|-----|
| 1. | federal courts: | 55% |
| 2. | state courts of record: | 15% |
| 3. | other courts: | 0% |
| 4. | administrative agencies: | 30% |

ii. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | | |
|----|-----------------------|------|
| 1. | civil proceedings: | 100% |
| 2. | criminal proceedings: | 0% |

d. State the number of cases in courts of record, including cases before administrative law judges, you tried to verdict, judgment or final decision (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel.

As a lawyer focused on issues and appeals, and then as a general counsel, I have not served as counsel in a case tried to verdict. Indeed, the objective typically was to obtain a judgment in advance of trial. I have, however, filed dispositive motions in numerous trial court proceedings.

i. What percentage of these trials were:

- | | | |
|----|-----------|-----|
| 1. | jury: | 0 % |
| 2. | non-jury: | 0 % |

e. Describe your practice, if any, before the Supreme Court of the United States. Supply four (4) copies of any briefs, amicus or otherwise, and, if applicable, any oral argument transcripts before the Supreme Court in connection with your practice.

17. Litigation: Describe the ten (10) most significant litigated matters which you personally handled, whether or not you were the attorney of record. Give the citations, if the cases were reported, and the docket number and date if unreported. Give a capsule summary of the substance of each case. Identify the party or parties whom you represented; describe in detail the nature of your participation in the litigation and the final disposition of the case. Also state as to each case:

- a. the date of representation;
- b. the name of the court and the name of the judge or judges before whom the case was litigated; and
- c. the individual name, addresses, and telephone numbers of co-counsel and of principal counsel for each of the other parties.

1. Safelite Grp. v. Jepsen, 764 F.3d 258 (2d Cir. 2014) (Winter, Walker, Cabranes, JJ.).

This case concerned the constitutionality of a state law that prohibited an insurance claims processor from recommending that an insurance customer receive glass repairs at an affiliated company unless the processor also recommended a competitor company. The Second Circuit held that the law was a restriction on commercial speech subject to intermediate scrutiny rather than an informational disclosure law subject to rational basis review. The court decided that the statute could not survive intermediate scrutiny and ordered a preliminary injunction against its enforcement. I briefed the case for Safelite Group Inc. and Safelite Solutions LLC (briefs available at 2014 WL 1259322 and 2014 WL 2025068). I had also briefed the motion for preliminary injunction in the district court. See Safelite Grp. v. Jepsen, 988 F. Supp. 2d 199 (D. Conn. 2013) (Arterton, J.) (briefs available at 2013 WL 6253536 and 2013 WL 11248541).

2. Gagliardi v. City of Boca Raton, 197 F. Supp. 3d 1359 (S.D. Fla. 2016) (Marra, J.).

This case involved claims by plaintiffs that the decisions of the City of Boca Raton to change its zoning law and to approve the construction of a Jewish religious center violated the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the U.S. Constitution and the Florida Constitution. The district court dismissed the plaintiffs' complaint for lack of standing. I briefed the motion to dismiss for Intervenor Chabad of East Boca Inc. and TJC Land Trust, the parties that sought to build the center (briefs available at 2016 WL 3581253 and 2016 WL 2771273). The plaintiffs filed an amended complaint, which was also dismissed. See Gagliardi v. City of Boca Raton, No. 16-CV-80195, 2017 WL 5239570 (S.D. Fla. Mar. 28, 2017). I briefed the motion to dismiss in that proceeding as well.

3. McCall v. Scott, 199 So. 3d 359 (Fla. 1st Dist. Ct. App. 2016) (Rowe, Makar, and Bilbrey, JJ.).

This case involved a challenge under Article I, Section 3, and Article IX, Section 1, of the Florida Constitution to Florida's Tax Credit Scholarship Program. Pursuant to the program, the state provides tax credits for contributions to nonprofit organizations that award scholarships to low-income students. The Florida First District Court of Appeal held that the plaintiffs could not maintain their constitutional challenge for lack of standing. I briefed the case on behalf of Intervenor-Defendants, parents of children who received scholarships as part of the program (brief available at 2015 WL 12844933). The Florida Supreme Court later denied review. See McCall v. Scott, No. SC16-1668, 2017 WL 192043 (Fla. Jan. 18, 2017). I also briefed the case before the Florida Supreme Court (brief available at 2016 WL 6922365). The circuit court had previously granted a motion to dismiss for lack of standing. See McCall v. Scott, No. 2014-CA-002282, 2015 WL 3945409 (Fla.Cir.Ct. May 18, 2015). I briefed that motion as well (brief available at 2015 WL 10713290).

This case presented the question whether a party responsible for the oil spill is liable under the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 for a claimant's economic loss that resulted from the moratorium on offshore drilling imposed by the federal government following the Deepwater Horizon spill. The district court held that such losses did not result from the discharge or substantial threat of discharge of oil and therefore the act did not impose such liability. Accordingly, the court granted BP's motion to dismiss. I briefed the motion to dismiss on behalf of BP Exploration & Production Inc. (briefs available at 2015 WL 9413470 and 2016 WL 1222147).

5. United States ex rel. Palmieri v. Alpharma Inc., 647 F. App'x 166 (4th Cir. 2016) (Gregory, Duncan, and Diaz, JJ.).

This case concerned a relator's claim that defendant pharmaceutical companies had violated the False Claims Act by marketing a product for off-label use. The Fourth Circuit held that the district court had erred in failing to consider the defendants' defenses under the False Claims Act's first-to-file bar and public-disclosure bar because those defenses are jurisdictional in nature. I briefed the case for defendants-appellees Alpharma Inc., Alpharma Pharmaceuticals LLC, King Pharmaceuticals Inc., and Pfizer Inc. (brief available at 2014 WL 3381757). I also briefed the motions to dismiss for the defendants in the district court proceedings. The district court had dismissed the relator's first amended complaint and second amended complaint for failure to allege the submission of a false claim with sufficient particularity to satisfy Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 9(b). *See United States ex rel. 6. State of Indiana v. IBM Corp., 51 N.E.3d 150 (Ind. 2016) (Rush, C.J., David, Dickson, and Rucker, JJ.).

This case concerned a contract between the State of Indiana and IBM Corporation pursuant to which the State hired IBM to modernize its welfare eligibility system. The State terminated the contract before performance was complete. The court considered whether the termination was for cause under the contract as well as other issues such disputes over fees and equipment costs. The Indiana Supreme Court held that termination was for cause because IBM had committed a material breach of the contract, and the court summarily affirmed the Indiana Court of Appeals on issues related to fees. The Indiana Court of Appeals had held that there was a material breach but that IBM was entitled to fees related to subcontractor assignments and change orders. See State of Indiana v. IBM Corp., 4 N.E.3d 696 (Ind. Ct. App. 2014) (Vaidik, Baker, Friedlander, JJ.). I briefed the case for IBM before the court of appeals (briefs available at 2013 WL 3490473 and 2013 WL 4707087), and I briefed the motion for transfer to the Indiana Supreme Court (brief available at 2014 WL 5419252). 7. In re Sauer-Danfoss Inc. Stockholder Litig., No. 8396, 2016 WL 297812 (Del. Ch. Jan. 22, 2016) (Laster, V.C.).

This case involved a challenge by former stockholders of Sauer-Danfoss Inc. to a transaction by which Danfoss A/S acquired the remaining shares of Sauer-Danfoss Inc. that it did not already own. On summary judgment, the Delaware Court of Chancery held that entire fairness was the appropriate standard of review for evaluating the transaction, that the Danfoss-affiliated defendants (Danfoss A/S, Danfoss Acquisition Inc., and Danfoss-affiliated directors of Sauer-Danfoss) were entitled to burden-shifting based on a fully informed and uncoerced stockholder vote, and that the special committee defendants (i.e. the independent directors of Sauer-Danfoss) were not entitled to summary judgment on the ground that the plaintiffs could not overcome the presumption of independence. I briefed the motion for summary judgment on behalf of the special committee defendants (briefs available at 2015 WL 5836970 and 2015 WL 9500923).

The Seventh Circuit held that the federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetics Act preempted state failure-to-warn claims because the manufacturers were unable to change their labeling under federal law. 9. In re Lipitor Antitrust Litig., 855 F.3d 126 (3d Cir. 2017); In re Lipitor Antitrust Litig., 868 F.3d 231 (3d Cir. 2017) (Ambro, Smith, and Fisher, JJ.).

These consolidated appeals involved antitrust challenges to settlements of patent-infringement litigation between pharmaceutical patent holders and generic manufacturers. The court addressed a jurisdictional question involving whether the case had to be heard by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. The court also addressed an antitrust question involving the allegations required to state an antitrust claim against a settlement that involves an alleged delay of the introduction of generic drug products into the marketplace. The Third Circuit held that the plaintiffs' allegations of fraudulent procurement and enforcement of patents did not arise under patent law and therefore the case did not need to be transferred to the Federal Circuit. The court further held that the plaintiffs plausibly alleged an impermissible reverse-payment settlement based on the patent holder's agreement not to produce an authorized generic product. I briefed the case on behalf of Defendants-Appellees Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd. and Teva Pharmaceuticals USA Inc., generic manufacturers, in In re Effexor XR Antitrust Litig., No. 15-1184 (filed Feb. 16, 2016). The district court had dismissed the claims as inadequately pleaded. See In re Effexor XR Antitrust Litig., No. 11-5479, 2014 WL 4988410 (D.N.J. Oct. 6, 2014) (Sheridan, J.). 10. Safelite Grp. Inc. v. Rothman, 229 F. Supp. 3d 859 (D. Minn. 2017) (Nelson, J.).

This case concerned the constitutionality of state law requirements that prohibited an insurance claims processor with an affiliated glass repair business from telling customers that they may be balanced-billed by competing businesses and requiring the processor to advise customers of their right to choose a glass repair vendor. The court held that the prohibition on balance-billing statements violated the First Amendment but the required advisory did not. I briefed the motion for preliminary injunction in the district court on behalf of Safelite Group Inc. and Safelite Solutions LLC (briefs available at 2015 WL 2400022 and 2015 WL 2400023) and briefed the motion for summary judgment with the trial team.

18. Legal Activities: Describe the most significant legal activities you have pursued, including significant litigation which did not progress to trial or legal matters that did not involve litigation. Describe fully the nature of your participation in these activities. List any client(s) or organization(s) for whom you performed lobbying activities and describe the lobbying activities you performed on behalf of such client(s) or organizations(s). (Note: As to any facts requested in this question, please omit any information protected by the attorney-client privilege.)

My most significant legal activities, apart from the litigation described above, include government service and academic scholarship.

As acting general counsel at the Department of Education, I served as the chief legal officer of a cabinet agency with 4,400 employees, a $68 billion budget, and a $1 trillion loan portfolio. I advised the Secretary on administration of the Department's programs and its regulatory work. Together with the attorneys in the Office of the General Counsel, I reviewed the Department's activities in light of its authorizing statutes, the Administrative Procedure Act, and the Constitution.

As special assistant to the President and associate counsel to the President, I advise administrative agencies and senior staff within the Executive Office of the President. I have participated in interagency review of regulations, analysis of statutory and constitutional questions, litigation strategy, and review of legislation. I have addressed questions involving the separation of powers and the administrative process.

As an academic, I studied issues related to constitutional and administrative law. I have written on the constitutional status of state sovereign immunity, which implicates interesting questions related to textualist constitutional interpretation and its relationship to broad principles that the Constitution protects. I have also written about the separation of powers, including the connection between the nondelegation doctrine and the fragmentation of executive authority as well as the limits of presidential policymaking under the Youngstown framework. I have additionally identified current practices in administrative law that tend to undermine the framework for agency accountability that was envisioned by the Administrative Procedure Act, and I have explored other topics as well. I taught courses in administrative law and civil procedure and advised students.

19. Teaching: What courses have you taught? For each course, state the title, the institution at which you taught the course, the years in which you taught the course, and describe briefly the subject matter of the course and the major topics taught. If you have a syllabus of each course, provide four (4) copies to the committee.

In Fall 2016, I taught Administrative Law at Scalia Law School, George Mason University. This is the basic course in the topic. It covers constitutional constraints on the structure and activities of administrative agencies, the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act, and judicial review of agency action. Syllabus supplied.

In Spring 2017, I taught Civil Procedure at Scalia Law School, George Mason University. It is an introductory course for first-year students, and it covers statutory and constitutional requirements related to jurisdiction, application of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and preclusion doctrines. Syllabus supplied.

20. Deferred Income/ Future Benefits: List the sources, amounts and dates of all anticipated receipts from deferred income arrangements, stock, options, uncompleted contracts and other future benefits which you expect to derive from previous business relationships, professional services, firm memberships, former employers, clients or customers. Describe the arrangements you have made to be compensated in the future for any financial or business interest.

I do not expect to derive future benefits from previous business relationships.

21. Outside Commitments During Court Service: Do you have any plans, commitments, or agreements to pursue outside employment, with or without compensation, during your service with the court? If so, explain.

I do not have any plans or commitments to pursue outside employment if confirmed.

22. Sources of Income: List sources and amounts of all income received during the calendar year preceding your nomination and for the current calendar year, including all salaries, fees, dividends, interest, gifts, rents, royalties, licensing fees, honoraria, and other items exceeding $500 or more (if you prefer to do so, copies of the financial disclosure report, required by the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, may be substituted here).

When my nomination is formally submitted to the Senate, I will file my Financial Disclosure Report and will supplement this Questionnaire with a copy of that Report.

23. Statement of Net Worth: Please complete the attached financial net worth statement in detail (add schedules as called for).

See attached Net Worth Statement.

24. Potential Conflicts of Interest:

- a. Identify the family members or other persons, parties, categories of litigation, and financial arrangements that are likely to present potential conflicts-of-interest when you first assume the position to which you have been nominated. Explain how you would address any such conflict if it were to arise.

Cases most likely to present conflicts issues would be those related to my service as a government lawyer or as a private practitioner. If confirmed, I would recuse myself from any matter in which, during my government employment, I participated as counsel, adviser, or material witness or expressed an opinion concerning the merits of the particular case in controversy. See 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(3). I would also recuse myself from any matter in which, during my private practice, either I or a lawyer with whom I was then practicing participated. See 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(2).

b. Explain how you will resolve any potential conflict of interest, including the procedure you will follow in determining these areas of concern.

If confirmed, I would evaluate any potential conflicts of interest under 28 U.S.C. § 455, Canon 3C of the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, and all other laws, rules, practices, and procedures governing such circumstances. In considering the standards set forth in those rules, I would consult judicial decisions and opinions of the Judicial Conference applying the rules to particular circumstances.

25. Pro Bono Work: An ethical consideration under Canon 2 of the American Bar Association's Code of Professional Responsibility calls for "every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, to find some time to participate in serving the disadvantaged." Describe what you have done to fulfill these responsibilities, listing specific instances and the amount of time devoted to each.

While in private practice, I devoted significant time to pro bono matters. My representation of Chabad of East Boca Raton, which involved the litigation described in response to question 17 as well as state-court proceedings and which involved Chabad's right to build a Jewish religious center, was a pro bono matter that entailed approximately 150 hours. The amicus brief in the Zubik litigation, which is noted in response to question 16(e) and which involved the rights of religious believers to avoid religiously offensive conduct, was a pro bono matter that entailed approximately 50 hours. Additionally, as a professor, I devoted time to working with students to provide guidance for their academic work and their professional development.

26. Selection Process:

a. Please describe your experience in the entire judicial selection process, from beginning to end (including the circumstances which led to your nomination and the interviews in which you participated). Is there a selection commission in your jurisdiction to recommend candidates for nomination to the federal courts? If so, please include that process in your description, as well as whether the commission recommended your nomination. List the dates of all interviews or communications you had with the White House staff or the Justice Department regarding this nomination. Do not include any contacts with Federal Bureau of Investigation personnel concerning your nomination.

In May 2018, I interviewed with attorneys in the White House Counsel's Office and the Justice Department's Office of Legal Policy for anticipated vacancies in the federal courts in New York. In July 2019, I interviewed with Senator Charles Schumer. Throughout this process I have been in contact with officials from the White House Counsel's Office and the Office of Legal Policy at the Department of Justice.

b. Has anyone involved in the process of selecting you as a judicial nominee discussed with you any currently pending or specific case, legal issue or question in a manner that could reasonably be interpreted as seeking any express or implied assurances concerning your position on such case, issue, or question? If so, explain fully.

No.
