iv. whether you served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings and, if so, a description of the 10 most significant matters with which you were involved in that capacity.

I have never served as a mediator or arbitrator.

b. Describe:

i. the general character of your law practice and indicate by date when its character has changed over the years.

Before and after my clerkships for then-Judge Brett Kavanaugh and Justice Anthony Kennedy, I worked in private practice by representing parties in large, often complex civil litigation matters in federal and state courts across the country. I did not specialize in a particular area of law but rather practiced in a variety of areas including constitutional law, administrative law, tax law, tort law, securities, and intellectual property.

Since July 2015, I have been a full-time professor at the University of Louisville Brandeis School of Law in Louisville, Kentucky, where I teach litigation skills such as legal writing, legal research, motions practice, and oral argument. During this time, I have researched and written about constitutional law, national security law, criminal procedure, and administrative law, and I have helped litigate matters in state and federal court. As before, I did not specialize in a particular area of law, but my litigation practice has included work on federal civil procedure, trusts and estates, remedies, and constitutional law. I have also assisted Judge David Levi with his work arbitrating a dispute between doctors and an electronic medical records provider.

Beginning in January 2019, I became a partner of counsel at Dinsmore & Shohl, where I have practiced in a variety of areas including labor law, property law, federal civil procedure, franchise law, constitutional law, federal statutory interpretation, and federal criminal law.

ii. your typical clients and the areas at each period of your legal career, if any, in which you have specialized.

At Gibson Dunn & Crutcher, I primarily represented corporations facing civil litigation in federal and state courts. At Dinsmore & Shohl, my typical clients are corporations and individuals facing federal and state civil litigation. I also maintain a substantial pro bono practice, which recently included representation of a criminal defendant a federal jury trial.

c. Describe the percentage of your practice that has been in litigation and whether you appeared in court frequently, occasionally, or not at all. If the frequency of your appearances in court varied, describe such variance, providing dates.

i. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | |
|-----------------------------|------|
| 1. federal courts: | 80% |
| 2. state courts of record: | 20% |
| 3. other courts: | ___% |
| 4. administrative agencies: | ___% |

ii. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | |
|--------------------------|-----|
| 1. civil proceedings: | 90% |
| 2. criminal proceedings: | 10% |

d. State the number of cases in courts of record, including cases before administrative law judges, you tried to verdict, judgment or final decision (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel.

I have not served as sole or chief counsel in any case tried to verdict or judgment. However, I have been associate counsel at a federal criminal jury trial. I have also been involved in trials in various other capacities, including at mediation and as the counsel who took an expert deposition.

i. What percentage of these trials were:

- | | |
|--------------|------|
| 1. jury: | 100% |
| 2. non-jury: | 0% |

e. Describe your practice, if any, before the Supreme Court of the United States. Supply four (4) copies of any briefs, amicus or otherwise, and, if applicable, any oral argument transcripts before the Supreme Court in connection with your practice.

Although I am not listed on most of the filings, I have drafted or assisted with the following briefs:

Brief for Petitioners, Mayo Found. for Med. Educ. and Research v. United States, 562 U.S. 44 (2011) (No. 09-837). Brief available at 2010 WL 4111636.

17. Litigation: Describe the ten (10) most significant litigated matters which you personally handled, whether or not you were the attorney of record. Give the citations, if the cases were reported, and the docket number and date if unreported. Give a capsule summary of the substance of each case. Identify the party or parties whom you represented; describe in detail the nature of your participation in the litigation and the final disposition of the case. Also state as to each case:

- a. the date of representation;
- b. the name of the court and the name of the judge or judges before whom the case was litigated; and
- c. the individual name, addresses, and telephone numbers of co-counsel and of principal counsel for each of the other parties.

1. United States v. Todd, 3:17-cr-77 (W.D. Ky.).

I represent a defendant who was accused of conspiring to possess with intent to distribute heroin and methamphetamine. My client is indigent, and I represented him pro bono in a federal criminal trial. I worked with his Criminal Justice Act-appointed attorney on all aspects of the case, including drafting evidentiary motions, consulting with the client, investigating open questions of fact, selecting the jury, preparing for the cross-examination of government witnesses, preparing for opening and closing arguments, raising objections, and researching legal questions before and during trial. The jury decided not to convict my client of conspiring to possess with intent to distribute heroin; however, it convicted him of conspiring to possess with intent to distribute methamphetamine. His sentencing hearing will be later this year.

2. Vance v. McDonald's Corp., 15-CI-00623 (Ky. Cir. Ct.).

I represent the defendant in a lawsuit filed by a plaintiff who alleged that she slipped and fell at the restaurant. Among the issues is causation, in particular whether her fall caused back and hand pain, or whether her condition preceded the fall by many years. The plaintiff retained a neurosurgeon as an expert witness, and I deposed him: In the deposition, he conceded that the fall likely did not cause the plaintiff's back pain, contradicting his expert report, and that it is also possible the fall did not cause her hand pain, again contradicting his expert report. The case is still pending.

3. Rockwell Mining, LLC v. NLRB, Civil Case 18-1329, 19-10 (D.C. Cir.).

I serve as appellate counsel to a corporation that is challenging the NLRB's certification of a union election held approximately three weeks after an agent of the union threatened and lied to the company's workers. The challenge raising the pressing question whether the court should invalidate a NLRB rule that precludes consideration of conduct before a petition for a union election. My client argues that the rule is outdated because the NLRB has shortened the time between petition and election, thus making conduct shortly before the petition more relevant. I will be presenting argument in the D.C. Circuit.

4. Osborn v. Griffin, 865 F.3d 417 (6th Cir. 2017).

I served as appellate counsel to the plaintiffs, who successfully sued the defendants, their brothers, over an inheritance dispute. The district court awarded the plaintiffs approximately $584 million in wrongful profits disgorgement and prejudgment interest, one of the largest judgments in Kentucky federal court history. The defendants appealed, and I assisted with all aspects of the appeal. Although I was not listed on the brief, I helped plan all of it, edited all of it, and drafted a portion of it. I also assisted the counsel of record with multiple moots before oral argument. My clients prevailed on appeal.

5. Carrollton Family Clinic, LLC v. eClinicalWorks, LLC, FEDARB No. F18-A-DL-1010 (Arbitration under FedArb).

I provided legal assistance to Judge David Levi, an arbitrator for FedArb, a group of more than fifty former federal judges and distinguished neutrals. The arbitration was ordered by the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts and concerned a question of statutory interpretation and contract interpretation related to a then-open question of whether the Federal Arbitration Act requires bilateral arbitration when the parties' arbitration clause is ambiguous with respect to class arbitration. Judge Levi held that it does, and several weeks later the United States Supreme Court resolved a circuit split by adopting the same position. I assisted Judge Levi with all aspects of the matter.

6. Mayo Found. for Med. Educ. and Research v. United States, 562 U.S. 44 (2011).

I served as appellate counsel to the petitioners. They successfully petitioned for a writ of certiorari after an adverse decision in the Eighth Circuit that created a 4-1 circuit split regarding whether medical residents must pay Social Security taxes, or whether they are instead statutorily exempted as “students.” The suit implicated $700 million in taxes per year. Although I was not listed on the briefing, I drafted the petition for certiorari, the reply to the opposition to certiorari, and the petitioners’ merits brief. The United States prevailed at the Supreme Court.

7. Green v. Campbell, 09-986 (U.S.).

I served as appellate counsel to the petitioners. At issue was whether the Free Exercise Clause requires courts to give legal effect to the trust provisions in a general church's canons. The lower courts were divided on the question, which affects church property nationwide. That property is valued at approximately $150 billion. Although I was not listed on the briefing, I drafted the petition for certiorari. The parties then settled before the Supreme Court decided whether to grant certiorari, and the Court dismissed the petition.

8. Apple Inc. v. Motorola, Inc., 757 F.3d 1286 (Fed. Cir. 2014).

I served as appellate counsel to Intel, which filed an amicus brief in a patent dispute between Apple and Motorola. Among the issues was the question of “hold-ups,” when patent holders use an imbalance in bargaining power to block new technology products from the market. According to the FTC, the problem is “particularly acute” in the context of our dispute, where a patent holder can “hold-up” an “entire industry.” Intel argued that the district court correctly denied Motorola an injunction for infringement of a patent and it correctly excluded testimony by Motorola’s damages expert. Although I was not listed on the briefing, I drafted the amicus brief. The Federal Circuit affirmed the denial of the injunction. It also partially affirmed and partially reversed the district court’s decision regarding Motorola’s expert witness. Williamson v. Citrix Online, LLC later overruled a holding of the panel not addressed by Intel’s brief. 792 F.3d 1339 (Fed. Cir. 2015) (en banc).

9. Lucent Techs., Inc. v. Gateway, Inc., Civil Cases 2008-1485, -1487, -1495, 580 F.3d 1301 (Fed. Cir. 2009).

I served as appellate counsel to Intel, which filed an amicus brief with other technology companies supporting Microsoft's petition for rehearing en banc. The panel had affirmed in part, and reversed in part, a damages award of $357 million against Microsoft. At issue was the Federal Circuit's clear-and-convincing standard for claims of patent invalidity when the PTO never considered evidence that may invalidate the patent. The Federal Circuit's standard conflicted with the pre-1982 decisions of all twelve regional circuits, had been the target of multiple congressional reform proposals, and was considered so consequential that the U.S. Supreme Court granted cert on the question in a similar case a year later. Although I was not listed on the briefing, I drafted the amicus brief. The Supreme Court ultimately affirmed the Federal Circuit's standard. In Lucent, the court denied en banc review.

10. United States v. Philip Morris USA Inc., 561 U.S. 1025 (2010).

I served as appellate counsel to respondent Philip Morris for a successful brief in opposition to the United States' petition for certiorari. At issue was whether the D.C. Circuit correctly held that disgorgement is unavailable under the civil RICO statute, 18 U.S.C. § 1964(a). The United States argued for a theory that could have resulted in a $742 billion disgorgement award. Although I was not listed on the briefing, I drafted the brief in opposition to certiorari. The Supreme Court denied certiorari.

Dates of representation: 2009-2010.

18. Legal Activities: Describe the most significant legal activities you have pursued, including significant litigation which did not progress to trial or legal matters that did not involve litigation. Describe fully the nature of your participation in these activities. List any client(s) or organization(s) for whom you performed lobbying activities and describe the lobbying activities you performed on behalf of such client(s) or organizations(s). (Note: As to any facts requested in this question, please omit any information protected by the attorney-client privilege.)

In addition to litigation, my legal career has consisted of my teaching, my academic scholarship, my clerking, and my service to the legal community.

My teaching has covered topics such as trial tactics, legal writing, separation of powers, federalism, free speech, criminal procedure, and digital law. In my role as a law professor, I frequently mentor students, in particular the fourteen research assistants I have worked with over the past four years, frequently seeking opportunities for them that will bridge the divide between campus and the bar. Although most of my teaching has been at the University of Louisville, I have also taught courses in Finland, France, and Germany.

My academic scholarship has covered topics such as the separation of powers, the judiciary, criminal procedure, and national security. The Indiana Law Journal, the George Washington Law Review, Illinois Law Review, and the University of Cincinnati are among the journals that either have published or are publishing my work.

My service to the legal community includes service on the Kentucky Bar Association's Annual Convention Planning Committee, service on its Continuing Legal Education Subcommittee, and uncompensated presentations regarding legal writing, due process within administrative agencies, and the Supreme Court.

19. Teaching: What courses have you taught? For each course, state the title, the institution at which you taught the course, the years in which you taught the course, and describe briefly the subject matter of the course and the major topics taught. If you have a syllabus of each course, provide four (4) copies to the committee.

I taught Lawyering Skills I at the University of Louisville Brandeis School of Law during the fall semester of 2015, 2016, 2017, and 2018. In 2015, 2017, and 2018, I taught two sections of the course. The course teaches litigation skills, including legal writing, legal research, client counseling, co-counsel collaboration, and oral argument. Syllabi attached.

I taught Lawyering Skills II at the University of Louisville Brandeis School of Law during the spring semester of 2016, 2017, 2018, and 2019. In 2016, 2018, and 2019, I taught two sections of the course. This is the companion course to Lawyering Skills I, and it continues to teach litigation skills, including legal writing, legal research, client counseling, co-counsel collaboration, negotiation, and oral argument. Syllabi attached.

I taught Writing for Practice at the University of Louisville Brandeis School of Law during the spring semester of 2014 and 2017. This is an upper-level course about how to write documents in litigation, such as complaints and motions to dismiss. Syllabi attached.

I taught four independent study classes on Animal Law (summer 2018), Prosecutorial Discretion (fall 2017 and spring 2018), and the Confrontation Clause (fall 2016). Syllabi attached.

20. Deferred Income/ Future Benefits: List the sources, amounts and dates of all anticipated receipts from deferred income arrangements, stock, options, uncompleted contracts and other future benefits which you expect to derive from previous business relationships, professional services, firm memberships, former employers, clients or customers. Describe the arrangements you have made to be compensated in the future for any financial or business interest.

None.

21. Outside Commitments During Court Service: Do you have any plans, commitments, or agreements to pursue outside employment, with or without compensation, during your service with the court? If so, explain.

No.

22. Sources of Income: List sources and amounts of all income received during the calendar year preceding your nomination and for the current calendar year, including all salaries, fees, dividends, interest, gifts, rents, royalties, licensing fees, honoraria, and other items exceeding $500 or more (if you prefer to do so, copies of the financial disclosure report, required by the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, may be substituted here).

See attached Financial Disclosure Report.

23. Statement of Net Worth: Please complete the attached financial net worth statement in detail (add schedules as called for).

See attached Net Worth Statement.

24. Potential Conflicts of Interest:

a. Identify the family members or other persons, parties, categories of litigation, and financial arrangements that are likely to present potential conflicts-of-interest when you first assume the position to which you have been nominated. Explain how you would address any such conflict if it were to arise.

If confirmed, the cases most likely to present conflicts issues would be those related to my prior service as a private practitioner. I would recuse in any matter in which, during my time in private practice, either I or a lawyer with whom I was then practicing, had participated. See 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(2). I would also recuse in any matter involving my former firm for an appropriate number of years following my appointment.

b. Explain how you will resolve any potential conflict of interest, including the procedure you will follow in determining these areas of concern.

If confirmed, I would evaluate any potential conflicts of interest under the standards set forth in 28 U.S.C. § 455 and Canon 3C of the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, both of which address the question whether federal judges must disqualify themselves due to conflicts. In considering those rules, I would further consult any judicial decisions or Judicial Conference opinions applying the rules to particular cases or circumstances.

25. Pro Bono Work: An ethical consideration under Canon 2 of the American Bar Association's Code of Professional Responsibility calls for "every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, to find some time to participate in serving the disadvantaged." Describe what you have done to fulfill these responsibilities, listing specific instances and the amount of time devoted to each.

I have spent a great deal of time working to improve equal access to justice through my community activities. For the past six years, I have been the volunteer executive director, and legal counsel, for the Global Game Changers Student Empowerment Program (GGC). Our non-profit organization has received more than a million dollars in grant funding to teach elementary school children that no matter how young they are and no matter where they come from, they can make a difference in the world. As part of my service to the Global Game Changers, I have presented to South-by-Southwest EDU, Louisville's Mayor, and the Director of the Corporation for National and Community Service.

Among my pro bono legal work was a recent representation of an indigent federal criminal defendant. His jury trial lasted nearly a week, and the case involved an extensive time commitment.

For the past four years, I have also led the University of Louisville School of Law's "Writing Skills" program for the pre-law program at Central High School, an inner-city school that educates an underserved population. I supervise between eight and twelve law students who teach writing skills to high school juniors every other Friday during the school year. In the past four years, I have attended most of the classes.

I am also involved in numerous other charitable endeavors.

26. Selection Process:

a. Please describe your experience in the entire judicial selection process, from beginning to end (including the circumstances which led to your nomination and the interviews in which you participated). Is there a selection commission in your jurisdiction to recommend candidates for nomination to the federal courts? If so, please include that process in your description, as well as whether the commission recommended your nomination. List the dates of all interviews or communications you had with the White House staff or the Justice Department regarding this nomination. Do not include any contacts with Federal Bureau of Investigation personnel concerning your nomination.

I expressed an interest in judicial service to Senator Mitch McConnell on June 22, 2018. On October 11, 2018, I discussed the topic with Senator Rand Paul in a meeting where Senator Mike Lee and a member of Senator Paul's staff were also present. On March 7, 2019, I was interviewed in Washington D.C. by attorneys from the White House Counsel's Office and the Department of Justice's Office of Legal Policy. On March 26, 2019, an attorney from the White House Counsel's Office called me and told me the White House intended to move forward with my nomination. Since that date, I have been in contact with officials from the White House Counsel's Office and Office of Legal Policy regarding my nomination.

b. Has anyone involved in the process of selecting you as a judicial nominee discussed with you any currently pending or specific case, legal issue or question in a manner that could reasonably be interpreted as seeking any express or implied assurances concerning your position on such case, issue, or question? If so, explain fully.

No.
